As a condition for use of the PageGate system, Agency and User(s) agree to provide MECA with all information necessary to complete the process of registration and to update any information which may change during the use of the PageGate system. This includes but is not limited to a change in the User's number, change in the User's service provider, or the termination of the User. The FCC monitors the use of all telephony and electronic communications very closely and responds to complaints such as "spam" aggressively by fines and blocking of service. The Agency and User(s) will also be responsible for all texting and/or other charges from the service provider that may result from use of the PageGate system. The Agency and User(s) hereby agree to indemnify MECA from third party claims, hold harmless from first party damages occurred, and provide restitution in whatever form necessary to return MECA to a whole as a result of any FCC violations that may result from Agency's or User's failure to comply with the above statements. Failure of Agency or User(s) to keep MECA apprised of changes in the above requested information shall be deemed a breach of this agreement and may result in termination of User's and Agency's use of the system.
